TANNER'S SUCCESSOR.

Major Warner's Friends Say he Will Not Accept the Office.

A Number of New Names Added to the Possibilities.

An Omaha Man Appointed Commissioner of the Land Office.

Nebraska Quarantined Against Texas Fever in Colorado.

The Pension Commissionership.

DEER PARK, Md., September 16.—Major William Warner was closeted with President Harrison over an hour last night and left early this morning. He came to explain why he could not give up his lucrative business to accept the pension commissionership. Whether the president succeeded in changing his determination cannot be learned.

WASHINGTON, September 16.—Major Warner returned this afternoon from Deer Park whither he went last night to see President Harrison, and it is understood he will remain several days in Washington yet. Major Warner declined to talk for publication but friends say he has made up his mind not to accept the offer of pension commissioner. Speculation as to Tanner's successor under this changed condition of affairs assumes a number of names two or three of which have not heretofore been named. The list of possibilities as far as known is as follows: George S. Merrill, Boston, ex-commander in chief G. A. R.; Judge John P. Rea, Minneapolis, ex-commander in chief G. A. R., General Fred Knefler, ex pension agent at Indianapolis; ex Pension Agent Poole of Syracuse, N. Y.; General Charles E. Brown, Cincinnati; Colonel A. W. Doane of Ohio.

New Land Commissioner.

OMAHA, Neb., September 16.—Judge Lewis A. Groff, who was to-day appointed commissioner of the general land office, will accept the position. Judge Groff was born in Wooster, Ohio, December 31, 1841. In 1867 he was admitted to the bar and immediately afterwards commenced practice in the city of Toledo. He at once became a prominent figure in politics and continued as such until '70, when he removed to Lincoln, Neb. In '77 he came to Omaha where he has since resided. Although a [illegible] republican, he was elected district judge in '87 on a non-partisan ticket, and has since attended to nearly all criminal business in the district.

Quarantine Against Colorado.

LINCOLN, Neb., September 16.—To-day Governor Thayer [illegible] a proclamation quarantining Nebraska against the importation of cattle from Logan and Weld counties, Colorado. This is done because there is said to be Texas fever in that region.

Fire at Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, September 15.—Bamberger, Bloom & Co., wholesale dry goods, were burned out to-night. Four firemen were caught by falling walls and killed, and two more are reported missing. Their names are not known. The men were working close up to the building when the rear walls fell, catching them. The bodies of four have been taken out fearfully mangled. The building fronts on Main street, between Sixth and Seventh. The alarm was sounded at 11:10 and ten minutes later the flames were bursting from the windows of the third floor. Within a few minutes more part of the roof fell in. The fire department worked energetically, but it was soon seen that nothing could save the building, and their efforts were directed toward saving the Louisville hotel, two doors away. That building was smoking and it was a half hour's hard work to save it. A number of people, mostly servants were taken from the second and third stories in the rear by ladders.

Conservative estimates place Bamberger, Bloom & Co.'s loss at $800,000. At 12:30 the fire is still burning slowly and two or three smaller stores are being consumed.

LATER—At 1:30 the fire is completely under control. It is now known definitely that six firemen were killed by falling walls. The bodies of five have been recovered: Edward Early, Samuel Shackllngton, John Monhan, Edward Wheeler and Pat Foley.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., September 16.—Six deaths resulted from last night's fire. The rain this morning extinguished the fire, which burned the building in which were Bamberger, Bloom & Co. and other firms. The heaviest [illegible] are as follows: Bamberger, Bloom & Co., $907,000; Louis Grauman & Co., shoes, $65,000; I. Bretzfelder & Co., hats, $53,000. Loss on smaller buildings brings the total to $1,263,000.

Nagle [illegible]

SAN FRANCISCO, September 16.—Judge Sawyer in the United States circuit court this morning rendered a decision in the habeas corpus case of Deputy Marshal David Nagle, and discharged Nagle from custody. A bill of exceptions filed by counsel for the state was allowed by the court, and pending appeal to the United States supreme court Nagle was ordered released on his own recognizance with bonds fixed at $5,000.

The decision was very long. It gives a review of the circumstances of the past year which culminated in the recent tragedy. In commenting on the subject of jurisdiction, Judge Sawyer says: There is no conflict between the authority of the state and of the United States. The state in such [illegible] is subordinate and the national government paramount.

He continues: There can be no doubt that the jurisdiction of the United States is not affected by reason of the location where the homicide occurred. The main questions the court considers are: First, was the homicide committed by the petitioner while acting in the discharge of a duty imposed upon him by the constitution and laws of the United States? and second, was the homicide necessary or was it reasonably apparent to the mind of the petitioner at the time and under the circumstances then existing that the killing was necessary in order to a full and complete discharge of such duty.

The court declared that the marshal is a peace officer so far as keeping the peace in any matter wherein the sovereignty of the United States is concerned, and he has all the power of a sheriff as to such matters. The court further declares that only a United States marshal or his deputy could have performed the duty of protecting Field, the use of state police being impracticable as the powers of a sheriff would have ended at the border of his county.

Judge Sawyer says: After mature consideration we have reached the conclusion that the homicide in question was committed by the petitioner while acting in the discharge of a duty imposed upon him by the constitution and laws of the United States."

Serious Railroad Accident.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., September 16.—A special from Corning says: An Erie passenger train on the Tioga river branch ran into a Fall Brook freight train at Tioga Junction this evening. About twenty passengers are reported injured, some fatally. All the passenger coaches burned.

The train was coming down a heavy grade and owing to slippery track and refusal of the air brake to work the engineer was unable to stop the train at the station and it rushed by crashing into one of the Fall Brook engines completely demolishing both the smoker and three passengers. The cars were smashed into kindling wood. The wreck caught fire and it was with difficulty some of the passengers were rescued from the burning wreck. A message was sent to Elmira asking for medical aid and a train. In the meantime doctors from Lawrenceville and Tioga had arrived and given all possible assistance. Stretchers were quickly provided and the wounded were carried to neighboring houses.

The names of the dead are Eugene Dageforde news boy, Harry Oliver, of Union, N. Y. The wounded number 15 or 20. Some of them sustained very serious bruises, cuts and scalds, others had limbs fractured. It is feared two or three will die. Among the injured is Mrs. G. N. Wright, of Spokane Falls, W. T., who sustained a fracture of the left leg.

The A. & P. Strike.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., September 16.—In conversation with General Manager Robinson, who has just arrived from the east, it is learned with reference to the strike that a grievance committee on behalf of the striking employees will reach this city to-morrow, and it is generally thought that the conference will result in an end of the strike. No complaint has ever been entered by any members of either the O. R. C. or B. R. C. organization. This is no strike for higher wages or against reduction of wages, but only a contention between two organizations, one of which claims that subordinate management of the road discriminates against them, and points to the dismissals in evidence of their claims. This being the case, the strike will hardly be able to withstand the reasoning of General Manager Robinson. The engineers at Winslow last night held a meeting and decided to stand by the company in the present strike. Thus [illegible] of reports put in circulation that all the railroad employes [illegible] the actions of the strikers. Equally groundless is the assertion that Santa Fe employes will go out on a strike if the demands of the grievance committee are not complied with to [illegible]

A Fire at St. Joseph.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., September 15.—The main building of the new exposition was almost completely destroyed by fire to-night. The fire broke out in the hall just after an entertainment in the great amphitheatre had closed. The building and a large part of the contents were consumed in spite of the efforts of the fire department. The building is situated two miles from town and an estimate of [illegible] is hard to get. It is thought however that the loss will reach nearly $250,000.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., September 16.—The main building of main exposition and all the exhibits were reduced to ashes by yesterday's fire. Loss $300,000.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., September 16.—Captain Foster of this city, who had charge of the [illegible] exhibition, had a sleeping room in the art hall. He retired early last night. No one thought to awaken him when the fire started and he was burned to death.

WASHINGTON, September 16.—Secretary Noble to-day appointed R. V. Belt, assistant commissioner of Indian affairs, A. M. Tinker, Indian [illegible], and G. W. Parker, special Indian agent, a commission to negotiate with the Sisseton and Wahpeton Indians in Dakota for the surrender of 789,000 acres of their lands. Indians on the Sisseton reservation have already agreed to take lands in severalty. The commission is instructed not to enter upon its duties until after patents in severalty for 127,887 acres have been delivered, which will probably be within the present month. Each Indian of the Sisseton and Wahpeton tribe over 21 years who receives land in severalty under the general allotment act of February 8, 1887, thereby becomes a citizen of the United States.

New Mexico's Constitution.

DENVER, September 16.—A Santa Fe special to the Republican says: The constitutional convention resumed debate on the report of the judicial committee. In committee of the whole the proposition to make supreme judges appointive instead of elective was carried by a small majority, but another vigorous attack upon this provision is expected when the article comes up for final adoption. Interest in the school question was revived to-day, when Springer, of San Miguel, presented a minority report from the committee on educational department. It differs from the majority report in respect to simplicity, but is quite as binding in reference to the exclusive use of public funds for non-sectarian purposes.

NORFOLK, Va., September 16.—A conference has been called by General Groner, formerly chairman of that wing of the republican party of Virginia who opposed General Mahone's plan of party organization. The conference will be held October 1st at the Exchange hotel, Richmond. The call is made by General Groner in his personal capacity, as it is understood he does not feel he holds any official position since the [illegible] is thought to be effected by the national republican committee at Washington lately and the recognition of Mahone's wing of the party at Washington since that time.

Murder by a Woman.

ZANESVILLE, Ohio, September 16.—Frank Amos, one of the most prominent citizens of Morgan county, was murdered at his home in the western part of this county by Mrs. Hampton, his niece, who literally hacked his face and head to pieces with a butcher knife, which she had carried for weeks avowedly for that purpose. The murder grew out of a law suit in which the [illegible] of Amos threw the costs on Hampton.

NEW YORK, September 16.—The eighth annual convention of cigar makers of the International union assembled at Tammany Hall this morning. One hundred and thirty five delegates from all parts of the United States and Canada were present. Adjournment was taken after a brief session until 2 p. m. Important matters will be considered in the convention, which will last more than a week.

MOVE FOR SILVER.

Denver's Mining Exchange Urges the Restoration of Silver.

A Convention Proposed to be Held in St. Louis.

Annual Session of the Sovereign Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F.

Begun at Columbus---A Large Increase of Membership.

Silver Convention.

DENVER, September 16.—The committee appointed by the mining exchange Saturday to report in regard to the subject of holding a silver convention, submitted the following resolutions, adopted by the exchange in open session at noon to-day:

WHEREAS, Influential citizens of St. Louis have caused to be conveyed to this exchange information to the effect that people south of the Ohio river and west of the Mississippi desire that a national convention shall be held at such time and place as may hereafter be determined, for the purpose of discussing plans for the restoration of bimetallic coinage, and

WHEREAS, This expression, coming as it does from representatives of those who occupy nearly six-sevenths of the area and comprise 70 per cent of the population of the United States, who produce all of the gold and silver, all of the cotton, rice and sugar, 60 per cent of the wheat, 70 per cent of the corn, 65 per cent of the oats, half of the hay, 75 per cent of the tobacco, and own more than 70 per cent of the farm animals in the United States, should not be ignored by any man or body of men desirous of promoting the production of constitutional money metal: therefore be it

Resolved, That members of the Colorado Mining Stock exchange will cordially and effectively support the proposition to hold a convention for the purpose indicated, and to that end will gladly co-operate with all who desire that the mints of the United States shall be again opened for the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold on equal terms.

Resolved, That inasmuch as productive results in this cause can only be obtained by increasing the numerical strength of the bimetallists in congress, it is the sense of this body that the proposed convention should be held before congress convenes in December next, in order to arrange for effective work in certain congressional districts during the coming winter.

Resolved, That inasmuch as the preliminary work to be done in the convention can be more thoroughly done at a point accessible to the majority of producers and where individual citizens are in accord with the delegates, it is the sense of this exchange that the proposed convention should be held in St. Louis, Mo.

Resolved, That the chamber of commerce and real estate exchange of this city be invited to co-operate with this body in its efforts to impart such momentum to this movement of the country's producers that its force will be irresistible in the halls of the national legislature.

Odd Fellows at Columbus.

COLUMBUS, September 16.—The sovereign grand lodge of Odd Fellows convened in annual session at noon. Representatives were present from every state and territory, Canada and the British provinces. The delegates were welcomed by Governor Foraker, Mayor Bruck, Grand Master McKinley and Grand Patriarch Frost. The [illegible] were appropriately [illegible].

The report of Grand Sire Underwood says: The I. O. O. F. was never in a more prosperous condition than now. The increase in membership during the past year was greater than the annual increase has been within the past fifteen years. The following figures show the strength of the order: Number of white Odd Fellows on the globe January, '89, independent order 653,787, Manchester Unity 688,492, total 1,341,779. The grand sire made a number of recommendations, among them being that the constitution be changed so as to admit to the order with the consent of guardians young men 18 years old; that the sovereign grand lodge reiterate its recognition of the military movement in the authorized branch of Odd Fellowship.

The most important recommendation is that suggesting the raising of a million dollars or more for building a temple for a permanent home for the highest body of the order. The plan contemplates a general parade and demonstration of Patriarchs Militant annually, and that it be made the means of raising a fund for the above purpose, the enterprise to be held in abeyance until sufficient money has been raised.

Reports from thirty-six jurisdictions of the United States show aggregate totals of expenses of subordinate bodies, separate from benefits and charities, for the year '88 were $7,50[illegible]. Invested funds in lodges $21,408,630, encampments $1,481,619, total $[illegible]. Grand and subordinate reports show during the year there were 36,112 persons initiated and 5759 reinstatements. The total deaths were 42,523.

The Ives Trial.

NEW YORK, September 16.—The trial of Henry S. Ives was resumed this morning. E. W. Woodruff, confidential secretary to Ives, and later secretary of the Cincinnati Hamilton and Dayton, was called to the witness stand. Witness gave a history of his relations with Ives and Stayner. After they had secured control of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton road, the firm proceeded at once to make a heavy over issue of stock in the names of clerks in Ives & Stayner's office. An over-issue of 1000 shares of face value of one hundred thousand dollars was made by witness on Ives' order and delivered to Zimmerman to cover Ives' indebtedness to Zimmerman. On the [illegible] day, previous to August 11, 1887, witness on Ives' order took the stock ledger to Ives' house in Brooklyn and [illegible] to conceal the over issue of stock. Witness however kept a record of all these transactions in a small book. Ives knew about this, and sometimes made entries in it himself. This book was taken to Newark, New Jersey, and kept until March last. The book was found in court and identified, and the record of the fraudulent stock issued read.

NEW YORK, September 16.—After recess the witness stated that 4030 shares were other parties [illegible] by Ives for the purpose of [illegible] stock which he did. Twenty [illegible] were identified by W[illegible]. These were not recorded [illegible] less stock available for cancellation than would suffice to counterbalance the over issue. Witness said Ives told him to take unauthorized stock and [illegible] altogether. Woodruff told how he sent Ives one night copied with [illegible] stock transfer book names and created a new set of certificates purporting to be the ones remaining out and showed them to Mr. Burns [illegible] bank, all [illegible] outstanding certificates.

Work Resumed.

LONDON, September 16.—Most of the strikers resumed work this morning. It is expected work on all the docks will be in full swing to-morrow. A [illegible] unemployed dock laborers [illegible] at the gates of the docks. They threaten violence against the men who [illegible] to take their places when the dock companies refuse to discharge.

LONDON, September 16.—Much ill feeling exists between the dock laborers and men who took the places of the strikers, and the former refuse to work with them. Several encounters have already occurred between them. The dock companies have made a strong complaint to the lord mayor against the conduct of the returned strikers. The matter is regarded so serious that a meeting of the joint docks committee, conciliation committee and leaders of the strikers has been called to convene immediately at the Mansion house.

LONDON, September 16.—A deputation of ship owners arrived at the Mansion house while the meeting was in progress. It was finally agreed to endeavor to have the agreement kept intact by all the parties interested.

LONDON, September 16.—At a meeting to-night Burns said the treaty with the workmen had been broken by subordinate officials of the dock companies. Unless the agreement with the men was kept there would be another strike. Directors of the dock companies however had assured him they would prevent any unfair preference being shown, and ship owners had advised the directors to pay the fares of the "black legs" and send them home.

To Back a Court.

LOUISVILLE, September 16.—Governor Buckner has dispatched two companies of state troops to Harlan county to aid in preserving the peace during the session of court, the presiding judge having complained of the lukewarmness of some of the civil officers in the prosecution of [illegible] owing to threats from bodies of desperadoes who have been running affairs in that region. The governor has [illegible] a proclamation to the people of Harlan county, calling their attention to these facts and advising them that the troops are not to take away any part of their rights but to aid in enforcing the laws and by their representatives, and because the "civil officers sworn to uphold the laws, not only refuse but give covert assistance to the criminal class. Murders and assassinations are perpetrated with impunity, and the people have permitted themselves to be so terrified by the lawless acts of a few individuals as to have refused obedience to the civil authorities in their efforts to arrest criminals." The governor calls upon the citizens to respond promptly to the summons of the civil authorities, to obey them implicitly in their attempts to arrest and bring to speedy justice, or if resisted by force to shoot down under orders of the authorities the assassins whose lawless acts are a reproach to our civilization.

The Cruiser [illegible]

PHILADELPHIA, September 15.—The new steel cruiser Baltimore, which left her dock down the Delaware river as far as the Delaware breakwater, returned this afternoon. A broom fastened to the foremast and another to the mainmast were public evidence of the success obtained by the builders of the vessel. Her commander, Captain Schley, said: "The trip was entirely successful and the engines were all right and worked admirably. The vessel went eighty or ninety miles out and is a beautiful sailer. You can be perfectly confident in saying that she is the fastest man-of-war afloat."

Another officer stated that the Baltimore left last Wednesday and anchored off the ship John Ligh, the weather being then too rough for her trial. On Friday morning the preliminary trial was had, and on Saturday she went for her regular official four hours' trial, under command of Captain Joseph Steel. All data and indicator cards were taken every fifteen minutes from both ends of every cylinder on the ship, which made for three hours an average of about 20.2 knots an hour in a pretty good sea. Many of the people on board thought she was making better time, but allowing for all errors in calculating log lines, etc., she is believed to have made 20.2 knots.

The trial indicates, it is said, that she is the fastest vessel of her tonnage afloat, and the fastest man-of-war of any country. The Baltimore ran straight ahead all the time. There was nothing from the time she left the dock until her return that occasioned any stoppage. It is also stated that the Baltimore will probably go more than 10,000 horse power, and as 9,000-horse power was the amount contracted for it, will, if this proves to be true, give the Cramps a bonus of at [illegible] 1000 horse power. It will be two or three weeks before the calculations to be made by the United States officials will be completed and made public.

[illegible] Arid Lands.

DENVER, September 16.—The senate committee now investigating the question of reclaiming arid lands of the west by means of establishing reservoirs for irrigation purposes, held a meeting today in the chamber of commerce. A number of prominent people were present who thoroughly understand this question and the benefits to be derived from it. Among these were Senator Teller and Governor Cooper. Testimony taken from those best informed was to the effect that the entire eastern portion of the state could be irrigated by a reservoir system, and hundreds of thousands of acres of land now worthless converted into the best agricultural land on the continent, that the storage system was undoubtedly the most practical and if one-half the water which went to waste every year was stored, there would be more than sufficient to reclaim every acre of land in the stage. The commission leaves for Cheyenne to-morrow.

[illegible] fully recommended that the [illegible] primaries on [illegible] 1889.

[Signed] F. W. HOW[illegible], Chairman.
JAS. A. C[illegible], [illegible]

Senator Evarts says he is tired of the newspaper talk about his hat. He says he buys hats as often as other men. The Senator probably thinks he is telling the truth, but he is misinformed. Most men buy hats more often than once in fifteen years.

The democratic [illegible] think they have made a great find in the figures of Secretary Windom's report for August which they [illegible] shows up the extravagance of the administration. The figures are misleading only to those that wish to be misled, and democratic papers are of that [illegible]. It is a somewhat difficult task to show that a decrease in the national debt of twenty millions is an increase of six or seven millions, but [illegible] people [illegible] to be equal to making the attempt.

The London News recently published a letter, from the present czar of Russia, which was written a few years after he had obtained the right of succession to the throne by the death of his elder brother. The letter was written to M. Arka[illegible] the well known Panslavist, and contains some interesting avowals. A portion of it runs as follows:

"I [illegible] tell you that I am not at all [illegible] I wish my [illegible]. It is too [illegible] for me [illegible] is only [illegible] with [illegible] family life. Court life does not suit [illegible], and I suffer daily at [illegible] to see [illegible] with the men at court. But I [illegible] myself to judge their [illegible] and yet all this is done solely with the [illegible] of [illegible] which [illegible] to my [illegible] are not [illegible] I feel unfit [illegible] in the [illegible]. But, alas! they [illegible]. In one word, dear [illegible] acknowledge that in being my [illegible] I am [illegible] for the high [illegible] which fate has ordained for me, for if, as crown [illegible], the [illegible] will that be [illegible] in the future I shall have to bear! This [illegible] I have long wished to [illegible] to you. I [illegible] to beg you not to disclose it to [illegible], as you will readily conceive [illegible] might be for me."

Governor Hill had himself interviewed the other day for the benefit of the Albany Argus. He began by saying that the democracy of New York city were never more harmonious. He probably referred to Tammany and the county democracy. They are just about as harmonious as a Blackfoot Indian and a cinnamon bear. Then the governor [illegible] this interesting remarks on the political situation by saying that the next legislature would be democratic. There is an equal chance of Mississippi going republican at the coming election. New York never did like democratic legislatures. They are too expensive a luxury. The last legislature had a republican majority of thirty eight, and if Governor Hill lives that long he will see another republican majority sit in the big state house at Albany. It is naturally inconvenient for the governor, especially when the senate is republican. The honorable senators are too critical about his appointments. They do not give him the opportunity to pull the wires and put up those fences, which the whisky executive knows so well how to build, that a well trained democratic senate would give him. But the people are looking after their own interests and not the convenience and political aspirations of the liquor dealer's friend and champion.

P[illegible] G[illegible] P. Fisher of Yale university will contribute to the Century during the coming year a series of papers on the Nature and Method of Revelation, in which he will touch upon a number of questions of living interest at the present time, in connection with Christianity and the Bible. Among the popular scientific articles to be published in that magazine during the coming year will be reports of the latest studies and [illegible] works made at the Lick observatory in California, furnished by Professor Holden. Prof. [illegible] Putnam of Harvard has written a series of papers for the Century on Prehistoric America, in which he will give the result of his own explorations of caves, burial places, village sites etc. A detailed account of the strange earthwork known as the Serpent Mound of Adams county, Ohio will be printed and the illustrations of some of the papers will include a number of terra cotta figures of men and women in a style of modeling heretofore unknown in American prehistoric art. Among the announcements of The Century for last year was one of a series of "letters home" from Japan by the American artist Mr. John La Farge. The letters have been revised and expanded into a series covering the landscape, art, architecture, life and religion of Japan, for which Mr. La Farge has made a great number of illustrations and these papers are to be a feature of The Century during the coming year. Mr. La Farge's brief paper on Japanese art, published in Mr Pumpelly's "Across America and Asia," was one of the earliest thoroughly appreciative essays on the subject of Japan.

Stock Market.

NEW YORK, September 16.—The stock market to-day was weak and declining from opening to close, and to-night everything is lower, though important [illegible] are not specially numerous. The action of the St Paul lines, which was promptly met by the Burlington and Northern, together with assertions from Chicago that the cuts would go farther, created a decidedly bearish feeling among the professional elements. In the absence of buying for long account vigorous efforts were made to get the list down. A rumor was circulated that the sugar trust had a bonded indebtedness of $10,000,000 ahead of the stock, and this led to a sharp drop of 3 per cent in that stock, though most of the loss was afterward recovered. Oregon Trans Continental, while not active, was weak in sympathy with Northern Pacific, and is of the few stocks showing a material decline this evening. There was further manipulation of Phoenix mining stock, and it rose from 65 to 77 and fell back to the opening price.

A Narrow Escape.

AUCKLAND, September 16.—The Tonga steamer Wainui has brought to this port the captain and crew of the British ship Garston, Captain Wells, from Sydney, N. S. W., for San Francisco, which foundered in mid ocean. The shipwrecked men were twenty-two days in an open boat without food or water. On the 22d day the men, driven to desperation by hunger and thirst, decided that one of their number must be sacrificed to save the lives of the others. They were casting lots to see who should be the victim when they sighted W[illegible] Island. Natives of the island assisted the exhausted men to land and treated them in the kindest manner. A mission boat took them to Tonga. Advices by steamer Wainui announce the death of the queen of the Tonga islands.

[illegible]

NEEDLES, Cala, September 16.—Intelligence has reached here of anticipated trouble with Indians at Hackberry, Ariz. Prominent citizens of Hackberry have telegraphed to Kingman for arms and ammunition. The cause of the trouble is not definitely known, though it has been feared for some time that the Hualpai Indians were dissatisfied. The tribe has been holding a big pow-wow and war dance in the mountains adjacent to Hackberry for [illegible] weeks, and they claim it was [illegible] a dance for rain. Old settlers have predicted trouble. Lieut. Hervey, of Fort Mojave, is at Hackberry, and says trouble is inevitable. Citizens of Hackberry are fortifying and sending their families away.

[illegible]

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt., September 16.—Delia Walker, aged 19 years, committed suicide by drowning at Langdon, N. H., Friday night. She was a daughter of J. C. Walker, and was a beautiful and accomplished girl. She attended the Vermont academy for two years, Smith college for one year and passed two years in the Boston Art museum. She was spending her vacation at home, expecting to return this week. The cause of the suicide is a mystery. She was the intimate friend of Miss Winner of Keene and Miss Walker of Springfield, Vt., both of whom committed suicide last winter.

A [illegible] Case.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., September 16.—The case of Mary G. Glynn, of Pittston, was called in the criminal court to-day. She is accused of poisoning her mother, and also being implicated in the poisoning of father-in-law and mother-in-law some months ago. It is alleged the three victims were murdered by Mrs. Glynn and her husband Edward in order that they might obtain the insurance placed upon their lives.

Sheriff Weber's Case.

DENVER, September 16.—The case against Sheriff Weber, who with others is charged with conspiracy to defraud the state, came up before Judge Allen again to-day. It was agreed between the district attorney and the defendant that the question as to whether or not a nolle prosequi shall be entered against Weber shall be heard before Judge Allen on the 21st without a jury, and the judge's decision shall be final.

[illegible] Affairs.

AUCKLAND, September 16.—Latest reports from Samoa are that Malietoa was quickly restored to power, and he and Mataafa have gone to the island of Manono where they will remain until the decisions of the Berlin conference have been confirmed. The German consul at Apia notified Tamasese that Germany was precluded from giving support to any party on the island.

Mrs. Hamilton Indicted.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., September 16.—The grand jury has returned an indictment of atrocious assault and battery against Mrs. Robert Ray Hamilton for assault on nurse Donnelly with a dagger. Mrs. Hamilton will probably be brought to trial to-morrow.

A Treasure Box Taken.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., September 16.—The stage between Forest Hill and Auburn was stopped this morning by one masked man, who demanded Wells Fargo & Co's treasure box which was given him. He escaped with it. It is not known how much it contained.

Mexico's Fourth.

CITY OF MEXICO, September 16.—To-day, the anniversary of Mexico's independence was celebrated throughout the country. Immense crowds filled the streets in this city cheering for President Diaz as the "apostle of his race."

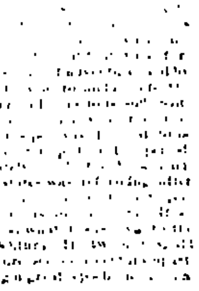
JAMES FENIMORE COOPER.

CENTENNIAL OF THE BIRTH OF THE GREAT AMERICAN NOVELIST.

His Works Were Full of Power and Have Had Many Countless Imitators—His Earlier Days Were Not All [illegible] Pleasant [illegible]

[illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] Fenimore Cooper was born [illegible] in New Jersey [illegible] [illegible] of [illegible] wars [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] state was [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] centuries [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] in history.

On his father's side Cooper's ancestors came from the home of Shakespeare, Stratford-on-Avon. They emigrated to America more than a hundred years before Cooper was born, and made extensive purchases of land in New Jersey and Pennsylvania. Just before Cooper's birth his father came into possession of several thousand acres of land in New York state lying along the head waters of the Susquehanna river. On this tract, in 1788, he laid out the site of Cooperstown, on the shore of Otsego lake.

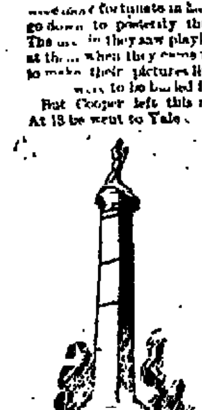


JAS. FENIMORE COOPER.

This spot, so beautiful today, must have possessed a singular fascination when the surrounding hills and mountains looked not even upon a village. In sunlight, in moonlight and in storm they kept the same impassive silence. Now the summer tourist may ramble through the valleys or skim over the lake unmindful of danger. Then at any moment the frontiersman might be startled by a painted savage face staring at him from behind the bushes. But around him were beautiful undulations, sloping gradually; blue outlines of mountains against the sky, the bosom of the lake, and all was wild and silent and uncultivated.

In 1790 the family removed from New Jersey to this wilderness, and for six years lived in a log house, but when Cooper was 7 years of age his father built a manor house which he called Otsego Hall, for many years the most imposing in Central New York. Yet when it was built it stood on the frontiers. [illegible] had only begun to push out through the Mohawk valley, then the only available route to the further west. In Cooper's boyhood he was used to looking upon Indians when they came in for barter. Their proximity doubtless ca[illegible] anxiety, and the children must have been excited by stories of their [illegible] or warfare among their different tribes, or even reports of intended hostilities against the white settlers. His mind naturally was charged with their [illegible], and he became familiar with the Indian from personal [illegible]. The chiefs of the Six Nations who were still powerful, were more fortunate in having their [illegible] go down to posterity than they [illegible]. The [illegible] they saw playing about, or staring at them when they came to Otsego Hall, was to make their pictures live long after their [illegible] to be buried in oblivion.

But Cooper left this natural state early. At 13 he went to Yale college. He had been tutored by an English rector, and found after preparing for recitations plenty of time for mischief. [illegible] It was that after three years at college he was expelled, [illegible] his [illegible] took sides with him [illegible] the faculty, and [illegible] a war of [illegible] in his [illegible]. Then the young [illegible] a [illegible] in the navy. But before he could [illegible] to this dignity he was obliged to make a voyage. He shipped before the mast, [illegible] to London, thence to Gibraltar, and then on his return was commissioned, and ordered to report at New York. While in the navy he [illegible] a Miss De Lancey, and, in deference to her [illegible] in 1811 resigned his commission and lived at his wife's home in Westchester county, N. Y.



COOPER'S MONUMENT.

When Cooper was about 30 years old he was one day reading an English novel to his wife, and casually remarked that he believed he could write a better novel himself. His wife encouraged him to try, and he wrote his first story. It was called "Precaution," and was published anonymously in 1820. The book was a picture of English life, with which the author was unfamiliar, but it was well enough received to encourage him to write another.

Cooper's friends urged him to try a familiar theme. Westchester county had been [illegible] during the Revolution, and the De Lancey—a Tory family [illegible]

[illegible] with stirring scenes. [illegible] novelist laid the scene of his next novel in this region and called it "The Spy." When it was written and appeared the author was living in New York. It at once attracted attention and Cooper [illegible] a literary lion.

The next [illegible] years of Cooper's life were the years of his greatest literary [illegible] [illegible] the time the famous "Leatherstocking Tales" appeared, and [illegible] as in America. His first sea novel, "The Pilot," was suggested by Scott's "Pirate," which appeared about that time. Cooper, who had been a sailor, pronounced it a landsman's work and undertook to produce a novel that would bear evidence of having been written by a seaman. He was successful in "The Pilot," as well as in his other sea stories.

To the present generation the fact that Cooper from being among the most popular of novelists became the most unpopular of men is almost entirely unknown. There seems to have been a want of address to[illegible] or with great sensitiveness, in his make up, which produced an unfortunate effect. He was in many respects a democrat, in others a pronounced aristocrat. He had a grand idea of the future of the young republic, and became the champion abroad. [illegible] his outspoken strictures at home on the crudities of his countrymen he failed to gain credit for his [illegible] elsewhere. He was attacked in the newspapers with such virulence that it drove him to Cooperstown, where he had not lived for sixteen years. There he intended to seek quiet [illegible]. But in a few years he was [illegible] into a wrangle with his fellow townsmen. A part of the Cooper estate b[illegible] permitted [illegible] for so [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] was a [illegible] resolutions, [illegible] which was [illegible] the townspeople were [illegible] for the point.

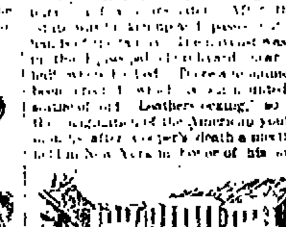
[illegible] a wide breach between [illegible] the [illegible] their attacks [illegible] called "Home as [illegible] [illegible] with his [illegible] was [illegible] in literature [illegible] to be left [illegible] state of mind, [illegible] for his fate few now [illegible] his characters were [illegible] Cooper himself and when he [illegible] was not [illegible] his [illegible] writing the [illegible] and the [illegible] [illegible] began and [illegible] [illegible] Wood, James [illegible] and Horace Greeley were [illegible]. The suit is laughed at [illegible] Cooper won [illegible] and the [illegible] became quite a respectable [illegible] gave a [illegible] Wood are the most [illegible] after repeated [illegible] and [illegible] and in 1842 [illegible] [illegible] to Cooper [illegible]

Cooper died in 1851, and Otsego Hall was [illegible] that the [illegible] of the [illegible] was called [illegible] near Otsego [illegible] to [illegible] his [illegible] surmounted by a statue of old "Leatherstocking," so dear to the imagination of the American youth. Six months after Cooper's death a meeting was held in New York in honor of his memory.



COOPER'S [illegible]

It was presided over by Daniel Webster, and addressed by him and by William Cullen Bryant and others. Since then the figures by which the famous novelist's last days were embittered have gradually died out of the remembrance of his countrymen, and his pictures of what the primitive portion of America was at the end of the last century only remain.

Suggestions as to Jelly Making.

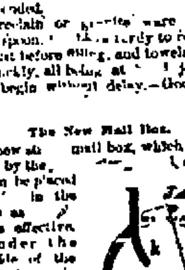
The most tart fruits will make the finest jelly, although fruits of all kinds can be used. But in the case of peaches, [illegible] and crab apples, a little water [illegible] be added to them for the first cooking. They are not sufficiently juicy, and would burn before any juice could be obtained. A more [illegible] method, however, which will avoid adding the water, is to [illegible] a [illegible] boiler by setting the kettle of fruit into a large pan of water, and cook the fruit in this way. It will need stirring frequently, and to be cooked longer than by the first method.

Quinces require a quart of sugar to a pint of juice than other fruits, while green grapes, which make a most delicious, spicy jelly to eat with [illegible] and [illegible] need one and one [illegible] of sugar for the same quantity of juice. Both [illegible] require that their juice and the sugar be boiled together ten [illegible] before pouring into the glasses.

Bags to strain the juice through are often made of flannel, and are good, but [illegible] of cheesecloth are better. In either case two loops of tape should be sewed on each side of the bag, so that a piece of broom, or a mop handle, or the time [illegible] family yard stick, can be run through [illegible] and the bag suspended.

A porcelain or granite ware kettle, a wooden spoon, [illegible] ready to roll in hot water just before filling, and towels to wipe them quickly, all being at [illegible] jelly making can begin without delay.—Good Housekeeping.

The New Mail Box.



[illegible] MAIL BOX

The new street mail box, which has been [illegible] by the [illegible] and which will soon be placed in [illegible] in the cities, is as [illegible] as it is effective. Just under the right side of the roof (as shown in the [illegible] cut) is a pivoted [illegible]. When mail is to be introduced the handle [illegible] is [illegible] down and the plate [illegible] swings past the flange (b). The curved flange (c) swings out, leaving an [illegible] between its [illegible] and the roof through which letters or newspapers can be introduced. The mail then rests on the plate, but when the handle is released, drops into the body of the box. There is a door in the bottom of the box for [illegible] to unlock when he [illegible] his [illegible] and by an ingenious ar[illegible] [illegible] at what time [illegible] A glance at the dia[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and we[illegible]

COLORADO'S GREATNESS

Remarkable Display of Mineral and Agricultural Wealth

Chicago Tribune.

Colorado long ago established her right to the position in the sisterhood of states as the strong box of the union. [illegible] what it would of gold and silver Colorado could more than [illegible] the draft. She was put [illegible] the mineral state. One has grown so used to hearing [illegible] tales of her gold and silver [illegible] that nothing which could be told of her mineral wealth would now astonish. But no one had supposed that out of the soil which has been tunneled by the miners' shovels and burrowed with [illegible] picks there could come crops of grain which would almost shame the farmers of the Mississippi valley. [illegible] an agricultural state indeed! She [illegible] to believe [illegible] that.

When nuggets of gold were as common in the sands of her streams as flowers were on the banks, while the native [illegible] of the carbonate camps of [illegible] were just beginning to be [illegible] there was no time to take care, and [illegible] grasses. Now that the production of gold and silver has settled down to a business with few more fluctuations than mining coal or quarrying stone the people have found time to learn something more of their state. And the sluices into which the mountain streams are turned are not now hurrying the water down to wash the bits of gold from the placer sand. Their torrents of water is being poured over brown fields with results as magical as it ever produced from the miners' rock.

THE COLORADO EXHIBIT

When Colorado herself began to know what she could produce she wanted the country to know it. A year ago a bureau of immigration and statistics was created. This bureau has collected the products of the state together and is making a display at our exposition. The display stands near the head of interesting exhibits. Its special interest is in its unexpectedness. That there should be a wonderfully fine display of quartz, minerals and etc. would be known without saying. But that there should also be a remarkable exhibition of the products of agriculture is a surprise.

The excellence of the agricultural part of the exhibit is not merely relative. It isn't alone remarkable because it is from Colorado. But it is intrinsically so fine that it is doubtful if Illinois herself could equal it at every point. What greater praise could be given? At the north end of the exhibit is a column of grasses. There are the bunch grass and the curling gramma of the unwatered plains, and there is timothy four feet tall, which shows what the same ground will do with water. There is alfalfa of the rankest growth, and a Colorado field yields three such crops a year.

Next to the grasses are the grains. Here are shown 127 distinct varieties. There are thirty-three varieties of wheat, and any one of them would make even a Dakotan pause. There are heads of oats which would do to garland Ceres herself. Then there are rye, barley, buckwheat, corn, flax, beans, peas—a splendid array of all the grains the fields produce. There is tobacco standing four feet high with its shoots off, and stocks of corn four times four.

THE FLORA OF THE STATE.

One of the walls back of this display is an exhibit by the state university of the flora of the state. This is notably complete and particularly well displayed. There are 884 varieties of flowers and plants so carefully mounted that their beauty alone, aside from their scientific value, would make them interesting.

In the center of the exhibit is a display of articles manufactured in the state from native raw material. The most important of these is the manufactured iron and steel. Here are street railroad rails of all sizes, spikes and nails, bolts, plates, bars and ingots. Building brick and fire brick are other important articles. The clay for fire brick is said to be unrivaled. In glass manufacturing all kinds of commercial bottles are to be seen. Petroleum is shown in all stages from the crude oil to the finest refined product. Mineral paints are shown in a variety of colors that would have delighted the heart of Silas Lapham.

And then there is coal. "Colorado has more coal than all the rest of the union combined" is the startling claim which is made for that product. There are mountains on [illegible] plains of each kind, and in quality it is claimed that each has no superior of its kind. Certainly so far as one can see from the samples exhibited Colorado will play an important part in supplying the great west with fuel.

The display of granites and marbles shows all the range from pure white marble through the varying shades of mottled [illegible] up to the stones that are so fine that they are called agates. The variety of [illegible] in the building stone excels anything one would imagine. It is this richness of material in the hands of the architects which is giving to the cities of Colorado, and especially to Denver, a beauty which will in time be hard to equal.

About one third of the exhibit is of the minerals of the state. It is not a picked display. There are no cases of fancy specimens. Instead of that the state has rather undertaken to show the mineral as it is being taken from the mines every day. There is ore from 800 mines. It is the ore taken at random from the dumps and shows exactly what the mines are producing to day. It shows the metal bearing quartz in every form, from the high grade ores carrying hundreds and even thousands of ounces of silver to the ton down to the carbonates of Leadville carrying from ten to twenty ounces; or perhaps one should say up to the low grade ores, for it is these low grade ores and their boundless supply which have given the mining business the stability and solidity of manufacturing. The days of bonanzas are gone, but in their place have come the months of steady and regular, though smaller profits.

In the center of a glass case is a double handful of shining, feathery looking stuff. It is the granulated silver, absolutely pure, just as it is [illegible] from the rock in the smelter and given a sudden bath in cold water. The handful would turn out just 184 cart-wheel dollars. By the side of this shining mass are two black, dirty looking pieces of rock. If an Illinois farmer could load his wagon with the like of either and come to market he might go home and spend the rest of his days in luxury. The poorest of these came from a heap of ore which was worth on the dump $25,000 a ton. A ton like the other piece would bring the lucky miner $40,000, and the smaller would drain out of it 8,000 ounces of pure silver.

About this case are heaped little piles of glittering quartz [illegible] and yellow, with shining spots in it here and there. These are the specimen hunter's meat. His number is uncountable. He wanders among the rocks imagining each one almost a solid chunk of gold. They are mostly too big to handle with comfort. But he reaches the case which is surrounded by the heaped up piles of bright colored [illegible] He covets. He falls. His hand stealthily fumbles among them. The pile is smaller and his pocket heavier. He thinks he has some valuable samples of ore. He has, in fact, some bits of rock worth three cents a ton. There were quantities of it shipped on for just such specimen hunters. Boxes of it set near by and the little piles have to be replenished daily.

Besides the minerals there are sheets of slate which would do for the Brobdingnagian children to carry to school; mica which scales off in transparent sheets, great chunks of natural asphaltum looking like pieces of rubber.

In fact what Colorado hasn't in stock in her natural storehouse it would be much shorter to tell than what she has.

Adventure With an Alligator

London Globe.

F[illegible] gives the following particulars [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] years ago. It was [illegible] [illegible] went up towards [illegible] when the [illegible] told [illegible] was a huge alligator [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] about twenty [illegible] there was an enormous [illegible] twenty feet long with [illegible] [illegible] above the water. [illegible] [illegible] caught him [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the brute instantly [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Abbott seized [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] of the rope [illegible] [illegible] the middle of [illegible] [illegible] while we were [illegible] [illegible] when suddenly [illegible] [illegible] the alligator [illegible] straight out of the water about four [illegible] as alligators generally do, with [illegible] in the head. Without the least hesitation Abbott flung both arms right round the snout, and a regular [illegible] and tumble ensued. I yelled [illegible] the top of my voice to drop [illegible] by the brute's whole body appeared, and Abbott calmly mounted him, evidently trying the while to disengage the slip knot, which had now got tight round his own arm, and to shove it over the brute's head.

Then the alligator started swimming and we followed down the bank, when just as we were opposite the bungalow he pulled deal up, brought his tail out of the water, and with a fearful side sweep capsized Abbott, snapping at him as he fell. Then came another fight such as I never wish again to see, the pair eventually disappearing beneath the water. We hauled away at the rope, thinking it was still attached to Abbott, when unexpectedly we saw him come up a few yards from the bank, evidently almost senseless. A Rajput peon jumped in and dragged his master up the slope. He was bleeding awfully, and was a gruesome sight. [illegible] in ribbons, arms and chest torn all over, both hands badly mauled, and the right foot completely crushed. He came to at once, and [illegible] said, "The rope's safe over his nose," and so it was, sure enough, for the natives to whom I had thrown the rope were now busily engaged in hauling the defunct saurian on shore. I never saw a man in such a mess; and, to add to the horror, down to the edge of the river, just as we dragged up her half killed husband, rushed his young wife, wringing her hands and naturally half out of her wits with terror. While she was standing over him, and the servants were carrying him to the house, he started singing "Home they brought her warrior dead." A nice time of it we had out in a jungle, with no appliances to tie the severed arteries, and with a patient who would insist in trying to get out of bed to see how the skinning of the alligator was getting on. We tried to hire kahars, but the whole country was under water, and they refused to budge from home; so we put him into a [illegible] and took him into the doctor at Mozufferpore, taking from 10 o'clock till 7 the next morning to do the twenty miles. Nothing but his high spirit and total inability to give in kept him alive through that journey. He ought to have died from loss of blood, for the wounds burst out every time there was a bad jolt over the breaks in the road, and they were legion. And then the poison from the bites and [illegible] of lockjaw would have been sufficient to settle any nervous fellow. Luckily, he has not got such a thing as a nerve in his composition, hence I suppose, his escape.

The Water Case.

The hearing on the application for a temporary injunction in the case of The Broadmoor Dairy and Live Stock company and Albert Matthews vs The City of Colorado Springs was begun on Saturday morning and occupied the whole of that day and yesterday. The hearing was in Judge Campbell's chambers, Judge Harrison and Geo. H. Easley for Wolcott & Vaile appearing for the plaintiffs, and City Attorney Peltz and C J Hughes, jr, appearing for the defendant.

Many witnesses were examined on both sides, including many of the [illegible] residents of the county, in regard to the original construction of the ditches involved and their use down to the present time. The plaintiffs are part owners of the Fountain ditch. Their application for a temporary injunction restraining the use of water through the city pipe line taking water from Ruxton creek, and their application to enjoin the work now in progress, by the city upon the lateral or blind drain in aid of the city ditch, a short distance west of Colorado City were both denied. A temporary injunction was granted restraining the city from interfering with the water commissioner in the distribution of the waters of the Fountain creek through the ditches taking water therefrom, according to the provisions of the ditch decrees of the district court, till further hearing of the case. The plaintiffs were required to give a bond for $15,000 to the city to cover any damages it may sustain by reason of the injunction and either party was given permission to apply to Judge Campbell on one day's notice for instructions to the water commissioner in case he shall distribute the waters of the creek in a manner considered by the party applying to be unreasonable. The case will come up for trial at the November term of the district court on its merits.

In the case of the Broadmoor Dairy and Live Stock company and others vs. the Brookside Water and Improvement company, George H Easley appeared for the former and Judge Foote, C. J. Hughes, jr, and John De Witt Peltz for the latter. This was an application on the part of the owners of the Cheyenne ditch for a temporary injunction to restrain the taking of water from Cheyenne creek by the Brookside company and was heard and argued with the preceding case. The application was denied.

The motion for a temporary injunction in the case of the Beaver Water Supply company and the Beaver Land company against the City of Colorado Springs was set for a hearing on September 26 in Judge Campbell's chambers.

Sometime ago the GAZETTE published a list of the members of the new Grand Island, (Neb.) base ball club, which, it will be remembered, is composed almost exclusively of old Colorado Springs players. The club played its first game last Friday at Kearney with the nine of that place and won by a score of 8 to 6. Mike Fitzgerald was in the box and is credited with [illegible] strike outs and only seven hits were secured off of his delivery. But he seems to have figured particularly with the willow as he made two base hits and two runs. Glenalvin played an errorless game on second and batted out a home run, besides making two single base hits. Newman did not make a hit. [illegible] is credited with some brilliant work at short but fanned the air at home plate. Lytle caught a Buck Ewing game and also made two runs. Wilson played centre field and gathered in everything in sight, but at [illegible] bat was not very fortunate with his stick, though he made a run.

Murderers Escape

SOMERSET, Pa., September 16.—The Nicely brothers, confined in jail here under sentence of death for the murder of farmer Umberger, this morning overpowered the sheriff, and when the deputy sheriff went to his assistance one of the brothers with the sheriff's revolver shot the deputy and made good their escape. The deputy sheriff's wound is a serious one and may result fatally.

LATER—The Nicely brothers have been recaptured. Deputy Sheriff Bravemen lies at the point of death. It is likely another attempt will be made at lynching before morning. A careful search of the cells and prisoners made directly after the recapture of the Nicelys unearthed three more revolvers in the hands of the prisoners.

A South[illegible] Storm

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., September 16.—A Key West special to the Times Union says: The weather here is rainy, stormy and very threatening. The center of the cyclone is expected to pass near here after midnight. All shipping has gone up into the hurricane harbor for more secure anchorage. The people are very uneasy, and all buildings and other property are being secured. The only safety is in the veering of the wind to the south, which will throw the cyclone center to the eastward. At 6 p. m. Havana reports indicated the cyclone center was south of that city moving westward.

ST. PAUL, Minn., September 16.—At 10 o'clock to-night in the Stillwater penitentiary "Bob" Younger, youngest of the notorious Younger brothers, who were sentenced to life imprisonment for murder in connection with the robbery of the Northfield bank died of consumption, from which he had been wasting away for some weeks, and on account of which his pardon was recently asked for of the governor but not granted.

The peaceful behavior of the [illegible], he declared, was a subject for national pride.

BROOKVALE!

Brookvale is What and Where?

It is the new and attractive site platted into tracts of from one acre to four acres; located south and adjoining "West Colorado Springs," being only one block from the street car line and the main thoroughfare connecting Colorado Springs and Colorado City.

RESIDENCE. A number of these lots are so located as to invite those to purchase who wish to secure for themselves beautiful sites for homes. They are slightly elevated, and present a most elegant view of "The Sister Cities" and the surrounding country. They are laid out on the liberal broad gauge plan, so that one may have ample room to make beautiful grounds.

WATER SUPPLY—Without water the most fertile soil is worthless. Brookvale is well supplied with water, having the first [illegible] right on the Fountain Creek.

GARDEN TRACTS—While some of these lots are especially desirable as Residence sites, others are certainly calculated for Gardens. They are level as a floor, with a soil of the [illegible] quality, and have an abundant water supply, and then when we take into consideration their nearness to market, we must come to the conclusion, that for gardens they can not be surpassed.

Do You Wish to Purchase One of These Garden Tracts Cheap?

If so come now and we will make you a present of one of the choice building sites in addition.
